4. Fill in the username & password

The screenshot shows the JetBrains Account login page. The browser address bar displays 'account.jetbrains.com/login'. The page has a dark header with the 'JETBRAINS' logo on the left and a help icon on the right. The main content area is white. On the left, a 'Welcome to JetBrains Account' section explains linking an educational pack and the need for an account. On the right, there are two sign-in options. The first, 'Sign in with existing account', includes input fields for 'Email address or Username' and 'Password', a 'Sign In' button, and a 'Forgot password?' link. Below this is a section 'Or sign in with:' featuring icons for Google, GitHub, Apple, and others. The second option, 'Not registered yet? Create JetBrains Account', includes an input field for email (pre-filled with 'jetbrains@gapp.nthu.edu.tw') and a 'Sign Up' button. The footer contains copyright information, links to Help, Support, Privacy Policy, and Account Agreement, and a build number.

5. You'll get the student license

The screenshot shows the JetBrains Account registration page. The browser address bar displays 'account.jetbrains.com/registration?contact=4e1p9o343w5d119ici6pb9uwy'. The page has a dark header with the 'JETBRAINS' logo on the left and 'Log in' and 'Create account' links on the right. The main content area is white. A 'Welcome to JetBrains Account!' banner is at the top. Below it, a message asks the user to complete the registration form. The form includes input fields for 'Email address' (pre-filled with 'jetbrains@gapp.nthu.edu.tw'), 'Username' (pre-filled with 'jetbrains_nthu'), 'Password', and 'Re-enter password'. A note specifies that the username should be Latin symbols, digits, or a valid email address. A message states that the account is the gateway to purchases and that a strong password should be chosen. To the right, a section titled 'JetBrains Account allows you:' lists three benefits: accessing purchases, identifying expired licenses, and managing company licenses. At the bottom, there are two checkboxes for accepting the 'JetBrains Account Agreement' and consenting to data usage. A 'Submit' button is at the very bottom.
